Shoppers selecting a wide variety of plants and flowers at the Midlands Plant and Flower Festival April 2-5 in Columbia.

The South Carolina Department of Agriculture's remaining Plant and Flower Festivals will be held in Florence and Greenville this month.

The Southern Plant and Flower Festival will celebrate 25 years this year. This annual event, held at the Pee Dee State Farmers Market located at 2513 W. Lucas Street in Florence, is a highlight of spring as thousands of visitors from all over the state descend on the Farmers Market looking for numerous varieties of horticultural and agricultural products for their home gardens. This year's event is April 16-19. Admission and parking are free, and the hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The Midlands Plant and Flower Festival was held at the Columbia State Farmers Market April 2-5 and was a success and the SC Department of Agriculture is looking forward to another great turnout in both Florence and Greenville, said festival coordinator Jackie Moore.

This four-day festival offers a wide variety of plants, lawn and garden décor for sale. The Southern Plant and Flower Festival is always a great place for the novice or experienced gardener. The festival will be held, rain or shine at the Pee Dee State Farmers Market. Visitors are encouraged to bring along a wagon or cart to carry their purchases and to wear comfortable shoes.

"Every year we have a wonderful turnout and this year will be just as fantastic," said Hugh Weathers, South Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture. "I encourage anyone who is interested in planting something as small as an herb garden to a large outdoor masterpiece to join us. You'll find just what you are looking for at the Southern Plant and Flower Festival."

April 22nd -- Earth Day - That's everyday in Agriculture!

April 22nd is celebrated around the world as Earth Day. Estimates are a half billion people will take part in events in over 160 countries. Its purpose is "to protect our planet, our children, and our future." This is the 40th year for Earth Day, with the first in 1970. I suppose it was just a coincidence that the first Earth Day was eight months after the Woodstock "gathering" in upstate New York.

Earth Day is the time when the "greenies" band together. We need to remind folks that farmers are the "greenest greenies" on earth. You probably won't see today's farmer in flip-flops driving a VW bus, but you can bet that he (or she) is always very concerned about growing green, being green, and making green to protect our planet, our children and our future.

Farmers don't require reminders or festivals to know their future earning ability is tied to the environment. It's just a part of doing business. I can imagine years ago had I told my father that it was earth day today, the response would have been "Good.... Now hand me that half-inch wrench."

However, as farmers, let's look at the momentum and enthusiasm for Earth Day as support for the environment, and for agriculture. Here are some reminders of how the two go together.

Earth Day

Farmers Protect Our Planet. They are driving force for the local food system and rural economy, alternative energy production, and environmental stewardship. Modern farming techniques, low-till and no-till production practices, have led to a significant decrease in soil erosion. Through branding efforts like our Certified SC Grown program, farmers are marketing closer to home at roadside markets, community-based farmers markets, and Community Supported Agriculture programs, helping local dollars circulate in the community where it can do the most good. They are growing green energy and using sustainable production methods to grow food that is healthy for us and the planet. Farmers are the front line in strengthening the economy, reducing our dependence on fossil fuels, protecting our natural resources, and defending national security.

Farmers Protect Our People. World population has reached nearly 7 billion. Seems like most of them want to live in South Carolina! We are fortunate in this nation that we can make choices every day - whether you want spinach or collards, fresh or frozen, organic or local. In some areas of the world the choice is between food or medicine. People around the world are better fed now than at any other time thanks to agriculture. Animal and crop science have brought synthetic fertilizer, better insect and plant disease control, and improved animal health. Agricultural technology has saved millions of people from starvation and millions of acres of habitat from the plow or the pavement.

Farmers Protect Our Future. They are the backbone of this country and the first rung on the economic ladder. When farms thrive, Main Street businesses and local communities thrive. Farmers and their families create real wealth, produce real value, and grow products that nourish us both physically and economically. While maintaining an independent lifestyle, they're out there feeding the world as stewards of the earth, and at the same time, providing the greenspace we all enjoy. The future of our environment, our food security, and our local economy depends on how well we cultivate a new generation of farmers to take over where we leave off.

Every time you stop by the grocery store, roadside stand, farmers market, restaurant, or any of the other ways we get our food, think about the farmers who made it all happen. Follow their lead. Use good environmental production practices around your home or work. Follow label directions when using chemicals in your landscape. Water your lawn wisely. And, be sure to buy local. Look for the Certified SC Grown logo where you shop because Nothing's fresher. Nothing's finer.

Farmers are the greenest greenies on earth. Every day is Earth Day in agriculture!

Hugh E. Weathers, Commissioner

Fresh Strawberry Tart

- |  |                           |
|--|---------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons butter                           | 1 ¼ cups milk             |
| 2 cups miniature marshmallows                  | 1 cup whipping cream      |
| 2 ½ cups rice cereal                           | 1 teaspoon almond extract |
| 1 (3 ½ -ounce) package instant vanilla pudding | 1 pint fresh strawberries |

Melt butter in a large saucepan over low heat. Add marshmallows, heating until marshmallows are melted, stirring frequently. Remove the saucepan from heat and stir in cereal until well-mixed. Pat mixture in an oiled 9-inch pie pan. (To help with this process, you will need to rub your hands with a little oil or butter.) Beat pudding mix, milk, whipping cream, and extract together at high speed for 5 minutes or until stiff peaks form. Spoon mixture into the cereal crust. Refrigerate for at least 3 hours. Just before serving, wash strawberries and remove the stems. Gently press strawberries stem side down into the cream filling. Yield: 8 servings.

Good Agricultural Practices workshop to be held at Clemson

The Clemson University Sustainable Agriculture Program is offering comprehensive, two-day training on Good Agricultural Practices for Fresh Produce Safety May 20-21, at the Madren Conference Center Auditorium in Clemson.

Space is limited, so anyone interested in attending is encouraged to return their registration form as soon as possible. The deadline for registration is May 11. To obtain a registration form, contact Geoff Zehnder with the Clemson Sustainable Agriculture Program.

This comprehensive training provides South Carolina vegetable and fruit growers with critical information for on-farm implementation of Good Agricultural Practices (GAPs) required for GAP certification. Participants completing the two-day course will become familiar with procedures for development of on-farm food safety plans and with requirements for GAP certification.

The course costs $50 per person and includes training, a GAPS training manual, and lunch both days. The workshop delivers a nine module-based curriculum on guidance for Fresh Produce Safety, including the eight basic principles for Good Agricultural Practices (GAPs), managing liability and risk, and communication during controversial issues. This training is organized by the Clemson Sustainable Agriculture Program with support from the Southern Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education (SARE) Program.

USDA Responds To Producer Concerns by Extending Sign-Up Date For DCP And ACRE Programs

Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack announced that USDA has extended the sign-up deadline from June 1 to August 14, 2009, for both the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP) and the forthcoming Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) Program. This action extends the sign-up deadline by 10 weeks to give producers ample time to decide whether to participate in ACRE or remain in DCP.

"Extending the DCP and ACRE sign-up deadline will help ensure that America's farmers have enough information and time to determine whether to participate in the ACRE Program. The DCP and ACRE programs play a critical role in the farm safety net and it is vital that we act to support the hard work of the farmers we depend on," Vilsack said.

Sign-up for ACRE is expected to start in late April, with an official sign-up announcement to be made in the coming weeks. Producers can elect ACRE at their FSA county office after the sign-up period commences. The original June 1 deadline may have forced producers to rush their decision, which is why this extension gives producers more time to make an informed decision about staying with DCP for 2009 or participating in ACRE for crop year 2009 and beyond through 2012.

The ACRE program, authorized by the 2008 Farm Bill, provides eligible producers a state-level revenue guarantee, based on the 5-year state Olympic average yield and the 2-year national average price. ACRE payments are made when both state and farm-level triggers are met. By participating in ACRE, producers elect to forgo counter-cyclical payments, receive a 20-percent reduction in direct payments and a 30-percent reduction in loan rates. The decision to elect ACRE binds the farm to the program through the 2012 crop year, the last crop year covered by the 2008 Act.

For more information about ACRE, DCP and other price support programs, please visit your FSA county office or <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Plant and Flower Festivals

This year there will be about 100 exhibitors on hand selling a wide variety of plants needed to make any yard the envy of the neighborhood. There will also be a booth for Clemson Extension's Master Gardeners to answer gardening questions and to enlist gardeners in the Plant a Row for the Hungry effort that is underway to help supply Harvest Hope Food Bank with fresh vegetables from local gardens. In the 20 counties served by Harvest Hope, gardeners are asked to plant an extra row of vegetables and donate them at local drop-off sites where the home-grown produce can be shared with those in need.

The Piedmont Plant and Flower Festival will be held at the Greenville State Farmers Market April 30 through May 3. Its hours are Thursday through Saturday 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Greenville State Farmers Market is located at 1354 Rutherford Road in Greenville. As always, parking and admission are free.
